At the tri-county King's Daughters' convention the following history of the King's Daughters' hall was told by Mrs. G. T. Robbins, this being the 14th annual conference of King's Daughters and being held at the M. E. church June 2:
"I want to take you back a few years. People who live in town cannot realize the need of a place to hold social gatherings. Housewives do not like to open their homes to the general public. An occasional lawn party in the summer would do, but in winter there was no place available. What could we do? Our number was small and not much money in the treasury. While we were praying and waiting a vacant house was available. We hired it. Next it must be furnished. The good people began to humbug their attics. The result was a house very comfortably furnished—even a second-hand organ we bought on the installment plan, which we finished paying for when the second payment was due.
We held suppers which were well attended and enjoyed. We had neighborhood picnics, the older members coming for the day, the young people in the evening. We had the house for about six years, when it was offered for sale. No place could be had, not even a barn. After much prayerful consideration, a meeting was called one day, a vote taken, should we build a hall? The vote was almost unanimous "Yes." A few "Nays" were not opposers, but a little fearful.

Then committees were appointed, a subscription paper drawn up; several building spots were offered us. This was decided on and as the wall by the roadside was removed for the foundation a well was found all stoned and water in it which was used until our present building was possible. It was learned afterward that some 100 years or more ago a schoolhouse stood on this spot, which accounted for the well.
Our committees were busy getting plans and figures. When our subscription paper showed $800 we thought it safe to commence work. The day they broke ground for the foundation a circle meeting was in progress. Each member took out a shovel of earth. The building was commenced in the work and was glad to help. The heater came from a friend of one of the members at a great reduction; our chandeliers were given. I wish you to notice our combination stage and table, when not wanted for a stage, the center removes and three sides can be used as a table, which was much appreciated on Memorial day, when 175 people were served dinner. The building cost $1,721; a party stool ready to take a mortgage for $570, the rest being raised.
The first gathering was of Methodist preachers—our pastor wanted to entertain his brother pastors, the paragon being too small. The pastor's wife not being able to do the extra work, he hired the hall and the King's Daughters served the dinner, which proved a very pleasing opening. He has sales, suppers, entertainments, Christmas trees, we rent it to people for wedding anniversaries, birthday celebrations, family parties and the W. C. T. U. members often find it convenient to hold their meetings. Without our hall it would have been impossible to have accomplished our Red Cross work. We have had the hall six years and the mortgage is reduced to $269. Our driven well cost $110. Horse sheds have been built at an expense of $200, which is all paid. I would not forget the flag given us by the Greenpeople through the efforts of a Grand Army man. We have many friends who have helped us wonderfully and we are not selfish, as many acts of kindness not reported here are extended to the needy and shut-ins. We believe the community appreciates our efforts and shall say I am proud of our earnest workers through whose efforts has been made possible to accomplish what has been done.
Thankful for our hall and the many friends we have found, we can only say: Praise God, from whom all blessings flow!"

Scurrying along on his motorcycle, with sidecar, over a speeding touring car running on the highway between Jewett City and Plainfield, just before 9 o'clock Saturday evening, Inspector Ralph C. Young of the state motor vehicle department, was hurled off his seat and into the brush beside the road, with the sidecar over him, when the wheel under the sidecar struck a big stone or some other obstruction, that had been left on the highway. Inspector Young was just abreast of the touring car he had been chasing, at a speed of 42 miles an hour, and was signaling the driver to stop when he took his plunge, from which he escaped uninjured, except for some scratches on his face. His machine was not damaged. Incidentally, the racing touring car did not halt on account of the accident to the inspector.
The Attawaugan hotel re-opens its main dining room service today, the following being the dinner menu: Scotch mutton broth, radishes, corn fritters with maple syrup, roast rib of beef, roast spring lamb, brown gravy; mashed and boiled potatoes; baked apples, vegetables, prune and apple pie baked rice custard, tea, coffee, milk. Dinner, 75 cents.—adv.

The funeral of Henry Hickey was held from the home of Mrs. Thomas Clements in East Brooklyn Saturday morning with a high mass of requiem at St. James' church. Rev. M. J. Ginet, M. S., being celebrant of the mass. The hearers were: Mrs. Emerson of California; John A. Spellman, both of Pomfret, where Mr. Hickey lived for many years; Henry Hickey, of Providence, and William King, of East Brooklyn. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery in Putnam. Louis E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Shepherd Hill Dairy farm milk from thoroughbred Holstein cows on sale daily at the Attawaugan hotel at 11 cents per quart, or $1.00 for a 10-quart can.—adv.
The death of Mrs. Lydia A. Curtis, 92, occurred Saturday morning at her home on the Dayville-Attawaugan highway. Mrs. Curtis was the widow of Rufus Curtis, who died about ten years ago, and for many years had lived in the town of Killingly, of which she was one of the oldest residents. Mrs. Curtis was born in Providence. She leaves the following children: Mrs. Emma Hiss, New York; Mrs. Lena Trapp, Miss Ida Curtis, at home; Mrs. Emerson of California; Mrs. W. C. Darrow of Dayville and Louis Curtis, of New London, railway mail clerk on a run between New London and Worcester.
By Sunday, Wood, Lowden, Johnson, Hoover and various other kinds of republicans of the past week had been miraculously moulded into Harding men in this town, where Harding has not been much considered as likely to be nominated. Ralph C. Young seems to have been the most consistent Harding booster and his original supporters. It is an indication of what it means to possess political astuteness when the average man cannot tell for the life of him just what is going to happen. Mr. Young will now be inclined to tell his democratic friends who will be nominated at the San Francisco convention—and of what will happen to him next November.

Graduating exercises of the eighth grade at St. James' parochial school were held in the parochial school hall on Friday evening at 8 o'clock, rounding out a year of very successful school work under the direction of the Sisters of St. Joseph, who have been in charge. The Star Spangled Banner, sung by the assemblage, will conclude the exercises.

William J. Mulligan, overseas director in charge of the Knights of Columbus war work, addressed a meeting held in the Orpheum theater Sunday afternoon under the auspices of Rose of Lima council. Those who waited through the period during which Mr. Mulligan was unavoidably delayed in reaching Danielson were well repaid, for the address of this distinguished knight was not only highly interesting, but also very timely, brought out very clearly the remarkable achievements that stand to the credit of the organization which worked during the war not only with several millions of Americans contributed from its own funds and from the individual funds of its members, but also with other millions generously donated by the American public, through the great war drives.
During the course of his talk Mr. Mulligan paid a splendid tribute to the activities of the order here in Danielson during the past year, when the local council has shown as much growth as any of the Connecticut councils.

Mr. Mulligan's address reviewed the history of the order since its inception in the city of New Haven just 30 years ago and its growth from a small membership, confined to a few towns and cities.

Mrs. Annie Meehan, 41, wife of John Meehan of Pomfret, died early Saturday morning at the Day Kimball hospital. Mrs. Meehan was born in Ireland but has lived for a number of years in Woodstock and Pomfret. Besides her husband, she leaves four children, the youngest an infant two days old.

Pauline Cote, the 7 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cote of South Meadow street, fell and broke her left arm Thursday night. She was examined and treated at the Day Kimball hospital.

Louis Daigle, who is raising potatoes on a much larger scale than most of the farmers in this vicinity, has between 60 and 70 acres under cultivation this year on what is known as the Styrnbroough farm, just over the Pomfret line in the Gary estate. He was very successful last year and his potatoes escaped the blight which affected so many farms in Connecticut.

Mrs. Emmaline Bancroft, mother of Oliver P. Bancroft of this city, recently had a toe amputated at the Day Kimball hospital. She is showing considerable improvement.

Mrs. E. G. Gulnac and son left Saturday afternoon for New Haven and New York. While in New York they stayed with Mr. Gulnac's sister, returning late Sunday night.

Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce there was a meeting of committees representing all the churches of Putnam. Mrs. MacKay, representative of the New York Tribune, presided. It was decided to at once start a campaign to secure names for children from the East Side of New York for two weeks beginning July 6. Mrs. W. J. Bartlett was elected chairman and those willing to take one or more of the children were to apply to her. The surrounding towns will be canvassed for the children certainly would enjoy two weeks on a farm.

J. O. Wood of Columbus, O., who has had a boys' camp on the shore of Rose-lake for the past four or five years, is expected to arrive today (Monday) and will bring a number of boys from Ohio with him. It is probable that most of the boys who were in this camp last year will return for this season. This camp, which is known as Camp Seneca, is located on the east shore of the lake, in the pine grove, not far from the summit of Mt. Mansfield. Last year more than 200 boys under the care of Mr. and Mrs. Wood and two instructors enjoyed the boating, bathing and other outdoor sports and returned to their schools in the fall better equipped physically and mentally for their work. A few of the boys from this vicinity enjoyed the privileges of the camp for several weeks last summer.

The Children's day program at the Second Congregational church was as follows: Processional, Loyalty to Christ, choir, junior choir and school; invocation, pastor; response, Junior The Lord is in His Holy Temple, choir; recitation, We Thank Thee, Father, for the children, Junior The Lord is in His Holy Temple, choir; recitation, Happy Children's Day, Francis Carpenter, Eric Danton, Marjorie Benoit, Lucie Carpenter, Doris Johnson, Dorothy Mansfield, Marie Strobella; hymn, I Think When I Read That Sweet Story of Old, 18 girls; baptismal hymn, Dorcas Bartlett; welcome to the cradle roll; hymn, Open the Door to the children, choir, Junior The Lord is in His Holy Temple, choir; recitation, The Good That a Child May Do, Edna Kent; recitation, The Boy's Service, Harry Thayer, Clinton Davignon, Roswell Wheaton, Brad Wheaton; recitation, Specially Children's Day, Billy Jones, L. Thomas Jones, Jr.; song, Praise Him, primary department; recitation, I Am Just a Little Sunbeam with a Happy, Smiling Face, Ethel Bugbee; recitation, How to Have Sunshine, Elizabeth Smith; Sunbeam, John MacDonald, Howard Clark, Myron Perry, Frederick Franklin, Howard Wright, Lewis Davison, Stratus Strombelle, Harry Wheaton; Little Buttercup, Dorothy Bradford, Pauline Dawber, Martha Thayer, Ellis Fern, Bert Midgley, Geraldine Shaw, Annie Anas; recitation, What to Like Best, Kenneth Dawley, Hayden Franklin, Malcolm Brown, John MacDonald, Howard Clark, Broseau; song, Jesus Hail to Thee, primary department; children's story, How Frances and Gerald Got a Sunday School, Ruth Bartlett; presentation of the Bible, primary department; recitation, About Giving, Helen Variedin; collectors, Elizabeth Smith, Edna Kent, Marjorie Benoit, Francis Carpenter, Ethel Bugbee, Dorothy Mansfield, Lucie Carpenter, recessional, Sober, Like a Shepherd Lead Us, choir, junior choir, school and congregation.

This is graduation week in Putnam, with events pertaining to commencement scheduled for every day.
Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Smith, married here last Monday, have returned from their wedding trip and are in Danielson, where they are to make their home.
A trip to Rocky Point and a shore dinner is the event scheduled for the first les in this state, to a great and powerful organization for good with 700,000 members scattered throughout the United States and Canada. What Mr. Mulligan had to say to the order's war work was intensely interesting. The former service men in the audience cheered the speaker when he declared that 127,000 members of the order served for Uncle Sam in the World war, as high a percentage of members in service as can be claimed by any fraternal organization in the land.

Before coming to Danielson Sunday afternoon Mr. Mulligan addressed a meeting of Mystical Rose council at Wauregan.

The body of Henry Hickey, for many years a resident of Pomfret, was brought here from Danielson, where services were held, Saturday morning for burial in St. Mary's cemetery.

The nomination of Senator Harding of Ohio proved a surprise to the rank and file of the republicans of this city, many of whom were favorable to Leonard Wood.

Miss Grace Murphy of Providence is the guest of Captain and Mrs. J. H. Bulger.

A touring car and a light truck were in collision in Pomfret, Saturday, little damage being done to either vehicle. The crash was not reported to the police.

Interference with an officer engaged in the performance of his duty, as occurred here Saturday evening, is an act likely to be fraught with serious consequences.

Several men in this city are pleased over the nomination of Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts as candidate for vice president on the republican ticket.

A delegation of members of Carroll council, K. of C., was at Danielson Sunday afternoon to hear the address by Attorney William J. Mulligan, head of the K. of C. overseas organization and a supreme director of the order.

The Call to Service was Stacy Southworth's subject at the baccalaureate service held in the Second Congregational church Sunday evening. This service brought together a large congregation interested in Putnam High School and the members of the senior class, which will be graduated Thursday next. Agents of the state board of education will receive a considerable number of applications from Putnam young people who wish certificates under which they may be employed during the long vacation period, which begins this week.

Rev. William Beach Olmstead, head master at Pomfret school, will deliver the address at the annual reunion of the Putnam High School Alumni association next Wednesday evening, at the high school building.

There were many from this city at Wildwood park Saturday evening for the week end dance at the pavilion.

At present there doesn't seem to be the slightest prospect of the resumption of through trolley service between Putnam and Webster. Since last February, when storms led to the trolley lines, no service has been maintained between North Groton and the state line. What might be considered at this time an abandoned section of trolley road runs through desolate country, productive even in normal times of no more than $42.49, making the average per head $365. L. H. Healey of Woodstock purchased a calf of fine breeding, dropped during the sale, C. D. Pomeroy of Windham, L. H. Healey of Woodstock, L. S. Barstow and P. J. Chabot of Killingly. George S. Bowen of Eastford, and County Agent Davis, attended the sale from Windham county.

Sunday afternoon members of Israel Putnam lodge of Odd Fellows held their annual Memorial service for departed members of the order, meeting at their hall at 3 o'clock and marching in a body to Grove street cemetery, where the graves of the deceased members were decorated and where an address was delivered by Rev. G. C. S. McKay, pastor of the Baptist church.

There will be an observance of Flag day in the schools of this city today, June 14, and this evening Putnam lodge of Elks will also hold a public observance in honor of the flag. The exercises in the schools will follow the usual arrangement of such events. The Elks' observance will be held at their lodge rooms here and will be open to the public. Rev. Boynton Merrill will deliver the address.
